This image shows a blank, multi-page character sheet template. The sheet is organized into three main vertical columns, each containing ten horizontal rows for notes.

- Top Row: Each column features a large, rounded rectangular box at the top, divided into two sections by a vertical line. The left section contains a number (0, 3, 6 or 1, 4, 7 or 2, 5, 8 or 9) and the right section is empty for writing.
- Second Row: Below the top row, there are ten horizontal lines for notes.
- Third Row: This row contains labels: "SPELL LEVEL" on the far left, "SLOTS TOTAL" in the middle, and "SLOTS EXPENDED" on the far right.
- Fourth Row: This row contains three rounded rectangular boxes, each labeled with a number (1, 4, 7 or 2, 5, 8 or 9). The first box is labeled "PREPARED" and the second is labeled "SPELL NAME".
- Bottom Rows: The remaining seven rows (from 5 to 11) are all empty for notes.

The entire sheet is designed to be printed on both sides of a sheet of paper, with fold lines visible along the right edge.
